

STATE ROAD MATTER MADE SPECIAL ORDER FOR FRIDAY MORNING

COUNTY DADS WILL ATTEMPT TO BREAK DEADLOCK OVER QUESTION.

AGAINST COUNTY LINE BRIDGES

Decide Not to Join With Ogle County
At Present in Constructing Line Bridges.

By agreement the members of the board of supervisors today decided to make the state aid road proposition, on which the body is deadlocked, special order of business at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, and the battle royal will be resumed at that time, after a recess following a 12 to 12 vote on Supervisor Edwards' motion to expend the half of the state aid money, which the state commission has refused to allow on the road east of Harmon on the Amboy-Dixon road, commencing at the north limits of Amboy.

As a result of the agreement to make the question, the order of business tomorrow morning some determined scheming, trading and arguing will be attempted this afternoon and evening in an effort to break the deadlock.

IF IT TAKES ALL SUMMER.

Many of the supervisors expressed sympathy with the sentiments expressed by Supervisor Banks in his motion to make the question the special order Friday, when he said he "was in favor of fighting the question out if it takes all summer" and he expressed the hope that the board would not adjourn without reaching some agreement on the question.

WAS WARM SESSION.

Wednesday afternoon's session was a warm one and some strong language was used by some of the members in referring to the state commission, several of the county dads being in favor of defying the higher body and sticking to the Harmon road proposition.

Several motions were put to the board, but none could break the deadlock. Supervisor Edwards wanted the half spent on the Dixon-Amboy road; Supervisor Bauer moved to stick to the Harmon road, while Supervisor Trostle of China township suggested expending the money on the Lincoln Highway, commencing at the bridge west of Franklin Grove and working westward.

AGAINST COUNTY LINE BRIDGES.

This morning's session of the board was devoted largely to committee reports. A recommendation of the Road and Bridge committee that the board decide against joining with Ogle county in the construction of county line bridges for the present, was concurred in.

County aid was extended East Grove township for the construction of a bridge.

There was a time when this country was so simple and crude that everyone ate fresh eggs in summer, and went without in the winter. Nowadays however, business methods have led men to buy up all the fresh eggs in summer and store them in refrigerated sarcophagi until winter, when they have acquired a rich, russet flavor, and can be sold by troy weight. Those which cannot be sold in winter are held over and sold the next summer. These eggs are not explosive, but little else that is good can be said of them. Thus we are now compelled to eat venerable and decrepit eggs both summer and winter, and the taste of fresh eggs is gradually being forgotten to such an extent that they may eventually be reserved entirely for ments under the delusion that they are not good to eat.

EXAMINATIONS R.F.D. CARRIERS

A United States Civil Service examination will be held at the postoffices in Dixon and Mendota, April 22 to fill the position of rural carrier at Franklin Grove, and other vacancies which may occur later on rural routes from other postoffices within the territory. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office of Lee county. Application blanks and forms required can be obtained at either of the above mentioned post offices.

WILLOW CREEK HOLDS RECORD

Linn Johnson, collector of Viola township today returned his book to the office of the county treasurer. There are now but six more books to come in: Nachusa, South Dixon, Palmyra, Wyoming, Amboy and Dixon, and these books will be returned in the next few days. The collections have been quite good taking into consideration that the levy was considered three years. W. J. Brown of Willow Creek township has the banner collection of the year, having a delinquency of but a little over $84. This is the closest collection made in any township in the county for a number of years. The first time that a collector secured every cent of the tax levy that has come to notice in this section of the state occurred in Boone county this year when T. V. Cockerill, collector in LeRoy township returned a clean book, collecting $12,410.15.

ILLINOIS MINES MAY CLOSE

Demand Does Not Meet Supply, and May Not All Summer.

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 23.—Coal mines in Central Illinois controlled by the Francis Peabody company of Chicago are being shut down because the demand for coal does not meet the supply, according to Robert Jess, manager of the Peabody mines of Sangamon county.

In many cases, it is understood, the mines closed will not be reopened during the summer. Danacra McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois division of the United Mine Workers, says several hundred mines in the state may close down.

WHAT UNITED STATES PAYS ITS FIGHTERS

PRIVATE GETS SMALL REMUNERATION BUT OFFICERS DRAW GOOD PAY

FIGHTERS GET $16 PER MONTH

As there is some little prospect of Company G being sent to Mexico, to the front after Villa, there has been some inquiries made as to the pay the privates and the officers of the companies and regiments receive during a call to war as this case would be. The privates are the poorest paid, of course, of any of the men. They receive their board in its entirety, all of their clothing, transportation and $16 per month. This seems very small to the average young man, but it is more for patriotism and a good time than anything else which induces young men to enlist. All that the veterans of the civil war received during their hard battles was $13 per month.

With the officers the case is different, for they receive fairly good pay with their food, but they have to pay for their own clothes and their swords, and other accoutrements. This, of course, takes money to start on.

The officers also have a sliding scale for their pay for services rendered, up to the rank of colonel. For every five years of service there is an increase of ten per cent, the time of enlistment in the local Illinois National Guard included. There are many members of the Dixon company who have been members of the guard for several years.

Commencing with the lowest paid commissioned officer the pay for service is as follows:

- Second lieutenant, $4.72 per day, or amounting to $141.67 per month.
- First lieutenant, $5.56 per day, or $166.67 per month.
- Captain, $6.67 per day, or $200 per month.
- Major, $8.33 per day, or $250 per month.
- Lieutenant colonel, $8.72 per day, or $261.67 per month.
- Colonel, $11.11 per day, or $333.33 per month.
- Brigadier general, $16.67 per day, or $500 per month.
- Major general, $22.22 per day, or $666.67 per month.
- Lieutenant general, $30.56 per day, or $916.67 per month.

AUGUSTA, GA. SWEEP BY $5,000,000 FIRE; FLAMES TAKE TOLLS

MANY BLOCKS OF SOUTHERN CITY REDUCED BY CONFLAGRATION DURING NIGHT.

MANY OTHER CITIES SUFFERED

Nashville, Oshkosh, Greensboro, Bayerville, and Other Towns Had Losses.

(Associated Press)

Chicago, Mich. 23.—Ten business and twenty residence blocks in Augusta, Ga., were destroyed by fire last night. The loss is estimated at $5,000,000. There was no loss of life.

Yesterday's fire in East Nashville, Tenn., destroyed 600 residences with a loss of $500,000.

Nashville, Mar. 23.—More than 2,000 of Nashville's best citizens are homeless and will have to sleep in the houses of their friends, in churches, public buildings and hotels for a while. Fire swept a path from three to five blocks wide and thirty blocks long, about half the territory being the best residence section east of the Cumberland river.

Governor Rye called out all the militia in the city and asked for citizen volunteers to help fight the conflagration.

Sparks Carried Mile.

A seemingly inconsequential fire starting in North Edgfield about 11 o'clock in the morning caused the conflagration in South Edgfield because the high wind scattered fire brands from the original fire to a dozen points, some of them a mile away.

Watch for Looters.

Vast quantities of furniture are now in the open streets, and are being guarded by the militia to avoid looting.

Loss Is Millions.

By 5 o'clock in the afternoon the fire had burned itself out in some sections, and was under control in others. Nashville's business and charitable organizations are looking after the homeless, and there will be little physical suffering and destitution, if any.

The loss is estimated at several millions.

Illinois Town Afire.

Kankakee, Ill., Mar. 23.—The Town of Beaverville, Iroquois county, was on fire in eight different places. Eight persons were injured, four seriously. The Holy Family Academy building was wrecked.

Oshkosh Normal Burns.

Oshkosh, Wis., Mar. 23.—Fire at the Oshkosh Normal destroyed the central portion, built in 1869 and opened in 1871, and three wings, all of which were practically one building. The total loss is estimated at between $150,000 and $160,000.

North Carolina Town Ablaze.

Greensboro, N. C., Mar. 23.—Spray, N. C., north of here, has burned. Practically all the structures in the business district were reported destroyed.

Losses Great in Southwest.

Kansas City, Mar. 23.—Fire losses running into many million dollars were caused in the Southwest by a high wind which swept out of that section.

The greatest loss was at Paris, Texas, estimated at from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000. Three lives were lost there.

A fire in the Cushing, Okla., oil fields has caused a loss estimated at more than $1,000,000.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON- IN-LAW IS FOUND

DR. ARTHUR WAITE, WANTED IN
PECK DEATHS MYSTERY, TOOK OPiates.

POISON FOUND IN PECK'S BODY

(Associated Press)

New York, Mich. 23.—Detectives sent here to arrest Dr. Arthur Warren Waite for alleged connection with the death of John E. Peck, millionaire druggist of Grand Rapids, Mich., found him in a stupor as the result of opiate self-administered. Physicians are working to save his life.

Waite is a son-in-law of Peck, whose death, and that of his wife, who recently have been under investigation. It is said that poison was found in Peck's body when it was exhumed. Waite had studied chemistry in the University of Michigan.

The district attorney said he would charge Waite, who is recovering from the drug he took, with murder in the first degree.

New York, Mar. 23.—Information supplied by friends and members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Peck, of Grand Rapids, Mich., has impelled District Attorney Swann to investigate the circumstances of the death of Mrs. Peck on Jan. 30 and of Mr. Peck on March 12 in the apartment occupied by their son-in-law, Dr. Arthur Warren Waite at 435 Riverside drive.

Percy S. Peck, a son of the wealthy, elderly couple, who is now in Grand Rapids, received a mysterious telegram, while making arrangements for the funeral of his father in Grand Rapids, who was a millionaire druggist, advising him to have an autopsy performed on the body of his father without fail. Mr. Peck summoned the family pastor, the Rev. A. W. Wisheart, and Dr. Perry Schurz. The post mortem showed that the condition of the heart and lungs did not indicate death from other than natural causes, but an examination of the stomach made by Dr. Victor E. Vaughn, dean of the medical department of the University of Michigan, disclosed the presence of arsenic in the stomach.

Since the death of her father, Mrs. Waite has been complaining of being ill, and declares her husband had before she was taken ill directed her to make out her will.

HERRERA IS LOYAL TO CARRANZA SAYS MEXICAN GOVERNOR

DENIES REPORT THAT HE IS LEADING TROOPS TO JOIN
VILLA FORCES.

FUNSTON PLANS QUICK ACTION

Will Work Promptly If Rebellion
Should Develop Along the Border Now.

(Associated Press)

El Paso, Mich. 23.—Ignacio Enriquez, civil governor of the state of Chihuahua, sent a telegram to Consul Garcia at El Paso today declaring that General Luis Herrera, commanding the garrison at Chihuahua City, is still loyal to Carranza. In his message Enriquez says: "I just shook hands with Herrera."

Gen. Funston is preparing for rapid action along the border should a new rebellion develop in Mexico. Although the Mexican consul at El Paso denies that Gen. Herrera, deposed military leader, and 2,000 of his men had taken the field with Villa, that Gavira's garrison at Juarez was about to revolt or that troops at Torreon were manifesting disaffection, private advices to El Paso tended to confirm reports that Herrera has gone over to Villa. There is no official confirmation, however.

Arrest a Plotter

A brother of Gen. Herrera was arrested at El Paso after he had returned from Juarez where he conferred with Gavira. The police say he had plotted to start rioting in El Paso.

Patrol The City

Soldiers with machine guns and police with rifles patrol the city, and have planned to search Mexican residences for concealed weapons.

Funston Believes Rumors

The war department has received no confirmation of the report that Herrera has joined Villa, but Funston's dispatch last night said: "It is reported that a revolt has occurred" and San Antonio advices indicate that Funston is inclined to give credence to the reports.

It was reported in El Paso today that two army motor trucks and their drivers were missing in Mexico, but wireless reports received later declared they were safe.

May Have Had Fight.

Whether the Seventh Cavalry, U. S. A. has defeated a detachment of Villa forces, as was reported last night, is not known in El Paso, but Gen. Funston admitted today that such an action had probably occurred.

May Use Railroads.

There was no information available today in confirmation of the report that Gen. Pershing is using a Mexican railroad for the transportation of his troops. General Funston said that he might be using a part of the line to the south of Casas Grandes.

Villa Establishes Base.

Latest reports were to the effect that Villa has established his base west of Namiquipa and that Gen. Herrera is moving to join him.

Galveston, Tex., Mar. 23.—The Felicista junta at Galveston, Texas, received advices to the effect that Felix Diaz, at the head of an army of 5,000 men, has occupied the important manufacturing city of Puebla, which is located about half way between Vera Cruz and Mexico City. It is stated that the fall of Puebla followed a battle which lasted for almost ten hours, in which the Carranza general Juan Alcega was forced to retire after a loss of several hundred killed and wounded. The information is that Diaz captured a large supply of arms and ammunition.

Washington, Mar. 23.—Official confirmation was received at the war department of the defection of Governor Herrera of Chihuahua with 2,000 troops to the cause of General Villa. It came in dispatches received from General Funston and General Bell. The news caused grave apprehension in official circles. Fear is expressed that the action of Herrera, who was formerly on Villa's staff of generals, may be followed by defection on the part of other Villa sympathizers.

El Paso, Mar. 23. (By Courier and Mexican Federal Telegraph).—The first clash between United States troops and Villa's forces took place Tuesday afternoon, eighty miles southeast of Casas Grandes, and thirty-five miles south of Namiquipa, according to well authenticated but unofficial information received here.

The casualties reported were two

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash" CHURCHES.

Churches are buildings in which people gather for the purpose of being good. Most of them are open one day a week.

A church has stained glass windows, patent sleepless seats, known as pews, a pulpit on which the minister hammers out his ideas, a choir, sometimes aggravated by a pipe organ, and a clock from which the striking mechanism has been carefully removed.

Churches are also equipped with deacons, who referee the church quarrels, with trustees, who make up the pastor's deficit at the end of the year, and with steeples which serve as guide posts to wandering automobilists who are hunting for the town.

Churches also have ushers, who are cruel and heartless in disposition, and love nothing better than to grab a shrinking stranger and maul him clear down to the front seat, thus allowing everyone to note the fact that he didn't get up early enough to get a Sunday shave.

Churches are not built by stock companies, but by voluntary contributions, helped out by concerts, lawn parties, fairs, cantatas, suppers, bazzars, steamboat excursions, rummage sales, ice cream fetes, watermelon gorges, oyster hunts, and chicken pie soirees. Most of the events are pulled off by the Ladies' Aid society, which usually takes up the burden after the men have given it up, and pays off the church debt. By working 18 hours a day for a week fifty women can easily clear $14.45 at a church supper, and by giving one affair a week, they can pay for a medium sized church by the time it needs repainting, reroofing and recarpeting. Most of our churches rest on the backs of our tired women.

Some churches are very magnificent, costing many millions of dollars, and overwhelming the casual sinner with their vast and gloomy greatness. Others are so small that a good, energetic preacher will knock plaster off both side walls during the same sermon. One can make grander acquaintances on earth in the larger churches.

Some people use a church as a clubhouse. Some use it as an advertisement, and others use it as a means of rising to power and glory, by becoming the head of the vestry. But if used in the proper way and in moderation, the church is very beneficial and will eventually enlarge a man's soul until he will be able to see over his pocketbook without using a step-ladder.

Dramatic Notes

PRINCESS THEATRE

Tonight the program at the Princess theatre is something in the real variety order with "Merry of the Frog Hill's" in multiple reel as the feature an American Mustang feature with Art Accord and Dixie Straton in the leading roles in a drama of western life with the above actors at their best. The single reels are Some Nerve, a Beauty comedy drama which is very pleasing and laughable and Seeing America First, a scenic novelty which is one of the most popular of the Princess theatre attractions. Tomorrow night Marguerite Fisher will be featured in The Lone some Heart, a Mutual Master picture De Luxe. The Mutual Weekly will also be on this bill.

AT OPERA HOUSE

Ask almost any playgoer what play of the last ten years he remembers most affectionately and he will answer "Potash & Perlmutter." Since the two famous characters took New York by storm two years ago, they have practically become incorporated into contemporary history. Their wit and their wisdom, their joys and their sorrows, their quarrels and their peace makings are so very human that must be hardened beyond redemption not to feel a response to their emotions.

The story of "Potash & Perlmutter," deals with the fortunes of "Abe" and "Mawrus" who risk their all in order to save from a Russian prison a young man who has fled that country to avoid persecution. The play teems with laughs but there are also many sweet love passages and touches of pathos that appeal to the heart and give to the comedy its lasting hold on the audience.

Potash & Perlmutter will return to the Dixon opera house for an engagement of one night only, Sunday, March 26 Seats on sale at Campbell's drug store.

PEACE STORY RILES WILSON

Tale Involving Ambassador Gerard Is Said to Be Without Foundation.

Washington, Mar. 23.—President Wilson was represented at the White House as being resentful of the publication of stories that Ambassador Gerard had reported Germany was about to make a move for peace. The published reports were characterized as being based on inferences. This statement was issued:

"President Wilson, through Secretary Tamm, authorized a denial of stories appearing in papers to the effect that the purpose of Ambassador Gerard's remaining in Berlin is to await Germany's proposals for peace. There is no justification for that inference being drawn."

PRINCESS THEATRE

Tonight the program at the Princess theatre is something in the real variety order with "Merry of the Frog Hill's" in multiple reel as the feature an American Mustang feature with Art Accord and Dixie Straton in the leading roles in a drama of western life with the above actors at their best. The single reels are Some Nerve, a Beauty comedy drama which is very pleasing and laughable and Seeing America First, a scenic novelty which is one of the most popular of the Princess theatre attractions. Tomorrow night Marguerite Fisher will be featured in The Lone some Heart, a Mutual Master picture De Luxe. The Mutual Weekly will also be on this bill.

AT OPERA HOUSE

Ask almost any playgoer what play of the last ten years he remembers most affectionately and he will answer "Potash & Perlmutter." Since the two famous characters took New York by storm two years ago, they have practically become incorporated into contemporary history. Their wit and their wisdom, their joys and their sorrows, their quarrels and their peace makings are so very human that must be hardened beyond redemption not to feel a response to their emotions.

The story of "Potash & Perlmutter," deals with the fortunes of "Abe" and "Mawrus" who risk their all in order to save from a Russian prison a young man who has fled that country to avoid persecution. The play teems with laughs but there are also many sweet love passages and touches of pathos that appeal to the heart and give to the comedy its lasting hold on the audience.

Potash & Perlmutter will return to the Dixon opera house for an engagement of one night only, Sunday, March 26 Seats on sale at Campbell's drug store.

Free concert tonight. Hear Prof. Thatcher at the Methodist church.

PEACE STORY RILES WILSON

Tale Involving Ambassador Gerard Is Said to Be Without Foundation.

Washington, Mar. 23.—President Wilson was represented at the White House as being resentful of the publication of stories that Ambassador Gerard had reported Germany was about to make a move for peace. The published reports were characterized as being based on inferences. This statement was issued:

"President Wilson, through Secretary Tamm, authorized a denial of stories appearing in papers to the effect that the purpose of Ambassador Gerard's remaining in Berlin is to await Germany's proposals for peace. There is no justification for that inference being drawn."

Pays Brazil for Coffee.

Berlin, March 23.—Referring to recent reports from Rio Janeiro that Germany owes Brazil 120,000,000 marks for coffee taken over during the war, the Overseas News Agency says the coffee was purchased in open sale and paid for in cash.

Six cases of diphtheria in Mt. Morris college, others in the town, and two cases out of town in the farming vicinity surrounding, has brought about the quarantining of the college and the town, according to news received here.

Strange freaks the wind storm of last night did—it blew down a tree—Well, but what of that, they're always blowing down trees, these wind storms. But all the same, there was something strange about this particular gust of wind that blew down this particular tree on Third street in the yard of Mrs. DePuy, or else there was something strangely determined about this tree to always keep its branches held up to high heaven, for, in spite of being severed from its trunk, this tree, a 35 foot tree and no inconsiderable little shrub, still kept its top uppermost though it was found some distance away leaning against a brother tree for support. But just how it managed to keep on its feet, no man knoweth.

United States Tread 'Usco' Tires

The Long-Sought-For 'Balanced' Tires

We have actually produced the long-sought-for 'balanced' tires.

The instant success of our popular priced 'Usco' Tread is a striking example of the automobile owners' immediate recognition of our 'balanced' tires.

There are three big, exclusive reasons why the 'balanced' tire is the 100 per cent. efficient tire.

- 1 Because the rubber tread is 'balanced'—that is, the tread has just the exact 'balance' between resiliency and toughness, which produces the greatest possible efficiency in the whole tread.
- 2 Because the fabric carcass is 'balanced'—that is, the carcass has complete 'balance' between flexibility which gives easy riding, and strength which gives endurance.
- 3 Because the whole tire is 'balanced'—that is, the rubber tread and fabric carcass are in such complete 'balance' as to give equal wear—both tread and carcass are equally strong.

It is this three-fold 'balance' that sets the five United States Individualized Tires in a class apart.

Since our 'balanced' tires began to be "felt on the market" last fall, the sales of United States Tires have increased steadily month by month up to the recent highest increase of 354 per cent.

ACIDS IN STOMACH SOUR THE FOOD AND CAUSE INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sour, gassy, upset stomachs in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask for pharmacists to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

St. Paul Men's Banquet

Friday evening at 7 o'clock at St. Paul's the men's banquet, which the ladies of the church will serve, will be held. At least 150 men are expected to be present and after dinner speeches will be made by many of the most fluent talkers in the church as well as some from the outside. The latter will include Theodore Truitt and Anson Thummel of Sterling. Dr. Altman the pastor, will preside as toastmaster. Mayor Schmidt will be called upon for the opening address, and other Dixon men speaking will be O. L. Clymer, G. H. Buckingham and L. W. Newcomb.

To Visit in Chicago

Miss Anna Jensen will be entertained for the week end at the home of her sister, Mrs. Malcolm Erb, in Chicago.

In Nachusa

Mrs. Ed Fisher of the Bend is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Miller of Nachusa.

Dinner Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Floto of the Kingdom and Mrs. Ch. Floto, a sister of Mrs. Floto who is visiting here from the east, and Judge and Mrs. J. W. Watts, will be guests this evening at dinner of Mrs. A. E. Taylor.

Mrs. Mary Good's section of the G. R. C. of Grace Evangelical church will hold a home baking and food sale at Sullivan's drug store, all day Saturday.

Big Party Tonight

Every arrangement has been made and all is now ready for the biggest event of the Dixon E. K. social session—the leap year card times card party and dance which will be held at the club this evening and promptly at 8:30 the festivities will start with the grand march. Guests who come too elaborately dressed are sure to be arraigned before the King of the Court, while Henry Kennein will be on the job all the time to see that the best of order is maintained. Prizes will be awarded on the costumes and for proficiency at the card tables, and old fashioned dances will be on the program with the modern steps, the Marquette orchestra furnishing the music.

The House committee announces that the party is for E. K. s, their wives and the lady friends of the unmarried members only. The indications are that the attendance will be exceedingly large, which has made it necessary to limit the invitations to wives and lady friends only of members. Children not admitted.

Every member of the lodge is invited, whether cards were received or not, as it is probable in going over the long list of members some names may have been overlooked. Should such be the case members who did not receive cards are asked to pardon the oversight and not feel slighted.

Harms-Smith

Dr. F. D. Altman, pastor of St. Paul's solemnized last evening at 7 o'clock at his home, the wedding of Miss Ruth A. Smith and Earl L. Harms, both of Palmyra. The ring was used. Only near relatives and friends of the couple witnessed the ceremony.

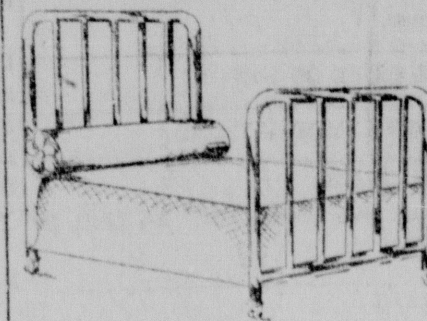

The bride was very charming in a dark blue traveling suit, lightened by a corsage bouquet of bride's roses. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Harms took the train for Iowa. They will visit with relatives in the state for a while, and then continue to Nebraska.

The bride is the daughter of Benjamin Smith of Palmyra and the groom the son of George Harms of same township. They will return to Palmyra to make their home.

Those present at the ceremony included the fathers of the contracting parties, Mr. Smith and Mr. Harms, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harms, Miss Elsie Harms, Miss Maybelle Smith, Miss Elizabeth McGaffey, Oliver Harms, and Charles Smith.

THE PATHOS OF THE ARMY.

"I tell you," says Colonel Glenn, chief of staff of the eastern department, "that the American army is the most pathetic thing that has come along in history."

The pathos of the spectacle may be frankly admitted. It has come home to the American people, as Colonel Glenn suggests, that it looks like a fly gazed at through the wrong end of a telescope. Yet in the year 1914 it cost the taxpayers of the country $173,000,000. This sum is greater by $30,000,000 than the cost of the British military establishment for the same year, and but $30,000,000 less than the cost of the French army for that year. Germany in 1914 appropriated but $253,000,000 to maintain her gigantic and marvelously efficient military establishment. Our soldiers cost us at the rate of more than $1800 a head. This is not accounted for by the higher pay to enlisted men, for the pay of the enlisted men is less than $200 per annum per man.

For the excessive costliness of the army congress is not chiefly responsible. Responsibility lodges with the heads of the army and the corps of directing officers. The money is spent as they advise—as they say is necessary. Measured in results secured the administration of the army is a marvel of inefficiency.

Military preparedness will be advanced and the army placed in a way of becoming less pathetic when the chiefs of the army seriously set about getting more for the sums confided to them for expenditures. Within the army, especially among its officers, should be developed a different spirit concerning the use of appropriations.—New York Globe.

FUNSTON AND CENSORSHIP.

Perhaps we shall have an opportunity to compare English and American intelligence in the matter of censorships. General Funston is likely to establish a censorship for this country as regards matters on the Mexican border. It is altogether right that he should and the individual or newspaper that divulges information of value to Villa is acting as a traitor. On the other hand there are many items of national interest that may perfectly properly be given to the country. In England this important fact has been stupidly overlooked and a detailed story of the whimsical and absurd decisions of that censorship would hardly be credited.

If we have war with Mexico we shall have a Funston, not a Shafter, in command. No reporter will slap Funston's face and demand the right to raise the flag. Whoever tried it would probably cease to be a reporter or anything else. This will be no newspaper's war. We do not look for orders to hold back a cavalry charge until the movie photographer gets his instrument ready; more likely and reasonably he will be ordered out of the way and away altogether.

The English are not allowed to know what the Germans know already, and yet the reason for keeping them ignorant is fear that the Germans will learn the facts. If Funston is as wise as he is believed to be and as he should be, he will suppress "enterprise" but make public facts of general interest, whether favorable or not when they do not affect the conduct of the war.—Hartford Courant.

The coal bin, which was assuming an encouraging aspect due to the warm, springlike weather, has suffered a relapse, and is sinking rapidly.

How to Have the Best Cough Remedy and Save $2 by Making It at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule contain a large quantity of plain syrup. A pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

Then get from your druggist 2 1/2 ounces Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with sugar syrup. This gives you at a cost of only 54 cents, a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50—a clear saving of nearly $2. Full directions with Pinex. It keeps perfectly and tastes good.

It takes hold of the usual cough or chest cold at once and conquers it in 24 hours. Splendid for whooping cough, bronchitis and winter coughs.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes the inflamed membranes in the case of a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiaac, and has been used for generations to heal inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

scouts with the American forces killed and eighty-one Mexicans killed. Villa did not personally command his band. He is said to be still further south, holding a conference with Colonel Cano of the Carranza forces.

Ousted Carranzista Flops to Villa.

San Antonio, Mar. 23.—General Herrera, commander at Chihuahua, is reported to have revolted against the Carranza government, declaring himself at war against the United States and promising his support to Villa according to information received here from a source regarded as reliable. General Herrera's strength in the city of Chihuahua was placed at 2,000 men. He had been relieved of command by Carranza Tuesday according to information here. His revolt occurring after he had been relieved.

Carranza's agent at El Paso brands the Herrera statement as false.

Americans Head Villa Off.

San Antonio, Mar. 23.—One troop of American cavalry has cut in south of Villa's band and is now astride the bandit's line of retreat toward the mountain fastnesses of Guerrero, according to a wireless message received here from General Pershing.

The message indicates that Villa is now hemmed in on four sides by American and Carranza troops and that the Carranza troops are now in direct contact with Villa's forces, forty miles from Namiquipa.

Must Give Battle in Few Hours.

General Pershing reported that Aeroplane No. 44 had communicated with the Seventh cavalry near Cruces. Colonel Dodd is south of El Valle and Pershing himself is at Babicora Lake, all three columns converging on the region of Namiquipa. South of that city the Carranza troops and the one troop of American cavalry bar Villa's escape.

Unless he can cut through these forces he must give battle within the next few hours to the three columns marching from the north. If he slips through the trap, officers say, it may take months to find him.

Another message from Pershing, also sent via Cases Grandes, said: "All well. No action. Aviator Willis reported safe."

The First squadron of the Thirtieth cavalry reached Casas Grandes Tuesday with part of the motor truck supply train. The rest of the regiment is patrolling the line of communications.

A TALE of RED ROSES

GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

Sledge goes to the state capital and gets everything fixed up for the passage of a bill granting a new car company a fifty year franchise free of charge.

CHAPTER XI.

Arranging a Little Protection For the People.

THAT sterling friend of the populace, that stalwart defender of the rights and the morals and the welfare and the purses of his admiring constituents, that vociferous choice of the people, State Senator Allerton, was discovered by Sledge in the act of serving the public interests by playing poker in the rooms of Assemblyman Buckley, and with these two conscientious patriots, deep also in the exercise of their duties to the commonwealth, were the very men Sledge wanted to see—Franchise Walters, who was heavy set, but not fat, and who looked like a prosperous shoe merchant, and old Pop Gresham, the red eyed administration wheelhorse from Pickering county, and Calvin T. Luther, the ministerial looking profanity expert, and Cap Diggleby, the avowed and professedly bitter enemy of Sledge, whose every white whisker was needed as a calendar for his many honorable scars of forensic battle.

It was Cap Diggleby who was the first to hail the visitor as he entered the door.

"Hello, malefactor of great wealth," he called. "Have you a spare queen of clubs about your person?"

"I'm shy on queens," confessed Sledge, looking down with indifference at the game he played so indifferently. "Buckley, I'm dry."

"Beat you to it, old man," replied Buckley easily. He was a spare person, with the neatly combed appearance of a dancing master, but with intense clear eyes and deep creases in his cheeks. "I sent word to the bar as soon as the phone announced you. Your stein will be right up."

"Thanka," granted Sledge, and considerably fell to estimating the jack-pot.

Allerton, a smooth featured man with a good forehead and a smiling eye, picked up the two cards which had been dealt him, compared them judiciously with the three he held, folded them together with minute care and tucked them neatly under the deck. Looking up, he caught the coldly disinterested eye of Sledge. Every man of the six at the table had tried that same thing, but Allerton was the only one who succeeded. Sledge, pausing to inspect carefully the beautifully arranged sideboard, moved into the adjoining room. Allerton arose from the table.

"Deal me out for a couple of rounds," he suggested. "Buckley, watch my stack. There's twenty-three fifty in it, and Pop Gresham's pile is mighty low."

Pop Gresham took ten blues from Allerton's assortment and added them to his own.

"Charge me ten from your friend's treasury, Buckley," he chuckled, with a playfulness intended to conceal his real satisfaction.

"Well, what's new?" asked Allerton, closing the door carefully behind him and sitting on the edge of Buckley's bed.

"Street car business," returned Sledge.

"I see we have two companies down home," remarked Allerton. "Which one are you in?"

"New one. Seven hundred and fifty thousand."

"Whew!" whistled Allerton. "Any money involved?"

"All cash," Sledge told him. "On the level."

"You must have a good outlook," wondered Allerton. "It's rotten! No franchises."

"I thought you held easily salable ones, from what I saw in the papers," puzzled Allerton. "If you haven't, however, you can easily get them from the city council."

"They're no good," insisted Sledge. "Short terms."

"That's right," agreed Allerton, beginning to see the light. "Franchises in this state can be granted for twenty years and are renewable in ten year periods at the option of the city council. I suppose your new franchises are for twenty years."

"Uh-huh!" assented Sledge. "That's when the profits begin."

"For both the company and its official friends," smiled Allerton. "It's rather a good provision as far as the public is concerned, however. It gives the people a voice."

"Why?" demanded Sledge. "They only ride."

"And pay," amended Allerton. "We talked this over before at Waver's house and at your office. I think I called attention to the fact that the people were beginning to expect a consideration for such valuable property as franchises."

"They expect a private car for a nickel," claimed Sledge. "We need franchise legislation."

"It's a dangerous thing to tackle," objected Allerton. "The voters are beginning to have ideas about such things."

"That's why we have to work quick," Sledge informed him.

"What do you want?" asked Allerton. "What do you want?"

"Good Lord!" exclaimed Allerton. "Why, Sledge, the man who would propose that might just as well retire from politics forever."

"Sure!" agreed Sledge.

The senator stopped, with a shock, and reflected.

"The street car interests in the state are large, that's a fact," he acknowledged.

"Great game," approved Sledge. "I want stock all over the state. You'd better invest."

"It might be attractive," considered the senator. "How much stock do you think I should secure?"

"Million."

Even the seasoned senator, used as he was to private and personal discussions involving comfortable figures, was startled at the sound of that word.

"That listens very cheerfully," he conceded. "Do you suggest that I buy up that amount of stock for myself in the various street car companies of the state or that myself and friends should club together for that amount?"

"Hundred thousand extra for them," responded Sledge with the promptness of a man who has done all his figuring beforehand.

Allerton spent some minutes in quiet thought.

"There's the legal business, too," Sledge reminded him.

"That's so," agreed Allerton. "An attorney who is also a large stockholder could control that cheating. Suppose I see Buckley about this? Send him in, will you?"

Appreciating the convenience of having no witnesses to conversations which so intimately concern the serving of the public, Sledge leaned out and stood nonchalantly over the table.

The five men looked up at him keenly, but Sledge was staring into Cap Diggleby's hand. Buckley finished his deal and glanced up again. He immediately arose.

"The new head, will you, Sledge?"

he begged, and he removed Sledge's stein from the sideboard to the table.

Sledge sat down and fingered Buckley's chips while he drank at his beer.

"Hope you break him," observed Calvin T. Luther as he presently dealt the cards. "Buckley's too all-fired lucky, and I think he plays crooked myself."

"House committee," yelled Franchise Walters. "That's un-lublike language!"

Sledge looked at his cards and put in chips and drew and bet with the air of a man who is confirmed in the opinion that the general average will "set" a square player in the end, no matter how he guards himself, and, since not caring whether he won or lost Buckley's chips, he bet the same on a flush as he did on a pair of deuces. He had increased Buckley's stack slightly when that gentleman returned. Sledge was about to rise, but Buckley sat in Allerton's place instead.

"Keep your seat, Sledge," he observed as he nodded to Cap Diggleby, Sledge's bitterest and most relentless foe on the floor of the house of representatives.

"Yes, keep it five handed," urged Diggleby. "I want to stretch my legs a few minutes, and a four handed poker game is about as exciting as a prayer meeting."

Diggleby walked around the room two or three times and looked at the patriotic pictures with which the walls were plentifully decorated for the benefit of Buckley's earnest constituents, then he sauntered into the hall and stretched his legs into the next room, where the senator, in deep thought, awaited him.

Diggleby returned to the poker game by and by, and as he sat down smiled cheerfully at Buckley, Buckley, who had been playing casino, seven-up and pinocchio with his poker cards and making a mad havoc in Allerton's chips in consequence, immediately drew a pair to his triplets and "bet his head off" with keen zest.

Diggleby gave no sign or glance at Sledge, but nevertheless, after another deal, Sledge arose stolidly from the table, and, without making any bones about it, walked directly into the bedroom. Allerton was lounging in a cushioned window sill, smoking a pipe.

"He's dead," commented Sledge, with keen philosophy.

"Exactly," coincided Allerton, with a philosophy which, though unexpressed, was still keener. "There's only one political post of any worth which would be open to him after the prejudiced public had its erroneous judgment permanently fixed."

"The senate," guessed Sledge.

"The United States senate," firmly repeated Allerton, looking Sledge square in the eye. "That's the one place in which political opprobrium cannot reach a man."

Sledge studied long and carefully and made some painstaking readjustments in order to make a place for one man he had to do considerable shifting on his political chessboard and eventually push a pawn off the edge.

"I'll see what can be done about that," he promised.

"That matter being clearly understood as well as the others we mentioned the legal representation and the amount of stock I am to acquire—I think the bill a feasible one and the legislation to be exactly such as is needed by the changing requirements of our modern civilization."

"Applause," observed Sledge, developing an unexpected turn for repartee. "Will Diggleby fight the bill himself?"

"No; he'll put Bailey Cooper on the job," grinned Allerton. "This will be about the last time he can be used that way too. That young spellbinder is getting too wise. Diggleby's almost afraid of him now."

"Can't we get him?" asked Sledge. "No chance," regretted Allerton. "He's too young yet."

"Don't risk him," warned Sledge. "Leave it to Diggleby and Buckley," advised Allerton. "They know Bailey like a book. They know what he thinks when he looks himself in his room, and he'll tear into this bill as if he were fighting the devil himself, face to face. After he gets through the real argument will begin, and anything anybody else says against it will sound flabby. After that we'll bury the bill in committee until there's something exciting in the house, split in the fifty year franchise amendment and pass the thing some rainy afternoon when nobody's in the house but invited friends."

"How long will it take?" inquired Sledge.

"About as long as it will take you to round up and organize the best paying street car corporations in the state."

Sledge looked out of the window in silence which seemed almost moody.

"So long," he said, and left by way of the hall.

Meanwhile Bozzam and Timbers were having their troubles. Two big, husky men who looked as if they might be primary leaders jostled them one day and told them they had better leave town. When they protested mildly the huskies snarled and finally gave them twenty-four hours to pack up. They packed.

"Sure not," agreed Sledge. "Never let anybody do anything in a law. Keep 'em from it."

"That's the idea," assented Allerton. "Restrictive legislation. The people are strong for that just now, anyhow. Diggleby's idea is to call the act 'A bill for the protection of municipalities against the monopolistic perpetuity of street car companies.'"

"Great!" approved Sledge. "It sounds fierce if they get it. I don't myself, but I know it's against the monopolies."

"It's almost harsh with them," dryly commented Allerton. "The bill will restrict the car companies to a painful degree. It will make a penal offense on the part of the officers to bond a company for more than its capitalization."

Sledge chuckled.

"The bankers' convention will indorse that," he said.

"The bill will prevent street railway companies from running open or summer cars when the thermometer is below 40 degrees F. It will prevent the running of winter cars without double glass protection for the motormen. It will be made illegal to have more than one strap in every eighteen inches of space. It will be made illegal for a full car to run by a signaling pedestrian, and it will be made illegal, although this will be scattered in three or four places in the bill, and surrounded with a lot of ambiguous language, for any franchise to be granted for as long a period as fifty years."

"That's the talk," nodded Sledge. "Restrictive legislation."

"I thought you could get along with forty-nine years and eleven months," stated Allerton. "Moreover, I think we can frame the bill to protect the people."

"Can you slip it through?"

"Diggleby thinks so, although he agrees with me that about six months after it's done somebody will explain it so that the voters will understand it, and the man who fathers it will have his name chiseled alongside Benedict Arnold's."

"He's dead," commented Sledge, with keen philosophy.

"Exactly," coincided Allerton, with a philosophy which, though unexpressed, was still keener. "There's only one political post of any worth which would be open to him after the prejudiced public had its erroneous judgment permanently fixed."

"The senate," guessed Sledge.

"The United States senate," firmly repeated Allerton, looking Sledge square in the eye. "That's the one place in which political opprobrium cannot reach a man."

CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Dixon Readers
For months Dixon citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Dixon residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Dixon reader.

B. A. Worley, blacksmith, Peoria Ave., Dixon, says: "The action of my kidneys was irregular and annoying and my back ached after using Doan's Kidney Pills, the pains left my back and my kidneys became regular in action." (Statement given May 21, 1912.)

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mr. Worley said: "Whenever my back gets lame and sore and I need a kidney medicine, I use Doan's Kidney Pills. They give me relief."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Worley has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
